TIMBERWOLVES SUFFER TOUGH LOSS AGAINST BRANTFORD!

The Timber Wolves were in tough against a determined Brantford squad on Saturday in Waterloo, with the defense down to 5 as Ben Hagen cheered his mates on from the bench. The first period saw both teams trade scoring chances. Matthew Fazzari came up big on a cross crease pass where he went post to post to make a lunging left pad save. The second period saw the Timber Wolves gain some momentum, which culminated with Stephen Cresswell rifling a shot from the high slot into the top corner of the net. Brantford quickly responded to tie the score after a scramble in front of the Wolves net. Brantford went ahead on a breakaway goal after the Timber Wolves had a shot blocked at the blue line. The Timber Wolves tried to even the score at the start of the third but were stymied by a goal post. Cresswell and Liam Read had some nice rushes for the Wolves from the back end but just couldn't find the back of the net. The Timber Wolves then ran into penalty trouble and spent most of the last half of the third period in the box. Ethan Januszkiewicz, Aaron Steingart and Owen Way were all strong on the PK, keeping the Saints to the outside and along with Fazzari, kept the Saints off the scoreboard in the third. The Wolves fought hard for the tie but just couldn't net the equalizer.

PLAYER OF THE GAME

Spencer Recoskie wears #14 for the Timber Wolves and his play exemplifies the importance of positional and team play. Spencer is a great set up man, always looking for his linemates to feed the puck for great scoring opportunities, which is what netted Spencer sweet pass of the game accolades against Brantford! It's clear by the way Reco races down the wing that he's learned a lot from his NHL hero, Jeff Skinner. Reco can find the back of the net with a sweet wrist shot he has perfected! When not playing hockey, Spencer loves to golf - rumour has it he's got one great drive that rivals some of the PGA pros! Reco is a grade 5 student at Bridgeport Public School where he excels in gym class. Spencer likes to down his favourite meal of burgers and G2 while watching movies and television shows like National Treasure and Survivor. Awesome game today Spencer - keep up the great work!
